Who is Responsible We are sometimes apt to wonder at the slow progress which, it is said, characterize judicial prosecutions in some of the countries on the continent of Europe, and congratulate ourselves that they manage things better under the rule of Britain. At home it may be so, but we wish we could say the same of things in this colony. If the amount of civil and criminal business in our Courts were very great, one could, of course, see some ex cuse for the dilitory manner in which judicial proceedings are so often carried on in this place. We have only to allude to the length of time over which the present Assizes have been extended from one cause and another. The only thing done seems to open the Court for the purpose of a further adjournment Now we all know that time is money. One can easily imagine, therefore, what an injury it is to compel men, day after day, and week after week, to attend Court, when the whole of the business might be transacted in three days. It is shameful that men, because they happen to be so unfortunate as to be jurymen or witnesses, should, through the mismanagement of judicial affairs, be obliged so often to neglect their business; and not only jurymen and witnesses suffer by it, but also men of the legal profession, who are regularly trotted over the bay to find that they are to "call again." Now who is to blame for all this Yesterday the Court had to be adjourned be cause the Crown witnesses were not produced If the criminal business had been properly managed this could not have occurred. The want of time could not be alleged as an excuse for it is nearly two months since the Assizes were opened. If the witnesses had been subposned and did not attend, they should have been punished for their non compliance But if they have not been summoned, with whom does the fault lie? The Attorney General is employed to conduct presecution on behalf of the crown. He should see, therefore, that the cases are properly got up. If witnesses are required, one of course does not expect that he shall run after them and bring them before the court, but he can surely give directions for the thing being done by responsible person. There'is the Chief of Po lice, for instance, who might be detailed for the business of seeing that all the witness required shall be before the Court. There must be some one to attend to these matters, who is liable to punishment for any neglect HARDWARE, must be some one to attend to these matters, of his duty. If there is any defect in the machinery let it be remedied at once. At pre ent we must hold the Attorney General liable for what is wrong. He is the public agent in legal matters. It is his duty to see that there be no obstacles in the way of rapidly and effectually prosecuting offenders against the public peace. And we cannot see that Judg Cameron is quite blameless in the matter

tages which they ought to bring to a civilized the delays which have taken place, and upon having the guilty parties panished. Unless this is done people will lose all respect for the administration of justice. If the arm of the law make not sharp and sure work, the evil disposed will come to imagine they may commit crime with impunity. Looking at the matter from another point of view, what a them be discharged; if guilty, punish them and have done with it. If we have a gov ernment and tribunals for the administration of justice it is time they should exhibit some degree of efficiency and let us feel the advan-

Necessity of Harbor Improvements. Although the people of Victoria must have every desire for the general progress of this Anvils, Vices, Files; island, and the consequent growth of other ports than this'; yet, at the same time, they cannot remain neglectful of their own interests. It is not strange, therefore, that they should not be indifferent to the position which E-quimalt has assumed during the last summer as a commercial port, or to the efforts making to still further add to the importance of that place. The railway to be built between Victoria and Esquimalt cannot fail, while benefitting Victoria to some extent, of being productive also of infinite advantage to Esquimalt. At present the largest vessels are obliged to go to the latter port. Is it not then probable that, with a comparatively low scale of railway freight between the two places-say, perhaps, $2 per ton-many of the vessels which with difficulty and delay now come into the port of Victoria would be sent to Esquimalt? This fact at first sight would seem to present nothing which could in any degree militate against the interests of Victoria. But when we come to take into consideration the difference between the rates of freight in large and small vessels we can easily see that goods might be laid down cheaper at Esquimalt than at Victoria. Suppose, then, that some enterprising men should take it into their heads to build warehouses at Esquimalt and then establish a line of steamers to British Columbia and the ports on Puget Sound. Would there not be some danger o the commerce of this port being lessened? Esquimalt, with her capacity for receiving vessels of the largest tonnage, might prove a thorn in the side of Victoria. Large ships and cheap freight would soon make the former the best market in which to buy goods. Should that time come, it needs no prophet to foretell the result. The barometer of real estate in Victoria would be apt to remain pretty low. Town lots, instead of being eagerly sought after at a high premium, would stand a pretty good chance of being dull below par. To be sure there are arguments against this position which we have just taken. We have got the start, a large amount of capital is invested here. We have every advantage but that of having the best harbor. There lies the turning point. It is now on the side of Esquimalt. We can gain all we want of that advantage if a proper effort be made. Our harbor can be rendered capable of accommodating the largest vessels that now go to Esquimalt. Were that done we could defy rivalry. With the same charges for freight from England-from the States and other foreign countries, we could have our goods at Victoria by large ships less the cost of transporting them from Esquimalt. This taken with the fact of our being as yet the chief seat of trade on this const, would have the effect of causing all consignments to be made to this port direct, instead of by way of Esquinalt. This would leave no chance for rivalry from that quarter. We need not then tion. If we would place our commercial supr macy beyond the possibility of disturbance ont harbor must be improved to the atmost extent, and that without delay. No pains and no expense should be spared to effect this object. For the last four years the thing has been talked of but nothing done. We must now act or take the risks attending further delay.

"Lets have a quarter's worth," our miner said,
And, quick as thought, he soon in bed was laid.
He slept a weary sleep, and the next morn arose,
The more refreshed, for he had doffed his clothes.
Those pants he did not whish again to wear,
And thought perhaps his host would send out for pair: He called out for the landford, and much surprised

Our friend Mike Cohen, of the "Red House," ther O see.
"What, Mike, you in this line!" our miner said:
"Then bring me up some pants, and something for my head."
Mike brought them up, and quick as thought,
Our triend the miner a new swit had bought,
Paid down his money, then, looking in the glass,
His compliments to Mike he thus did pass:

Mr, Hicks moved the following resolution in an earnest and energetic speech,

"Resolved, That, whereas, grave and serious charges and representations have from time to time been made, reflecting on the povernment of the city; and whereas it has become the duty of the city; and whereas it has become the duty of the city; and whereas it has become the communication of the same, and, whereas, it has been properly originated, and, whereas, on the night of the 8th of January, inst., I have been communicated to me that certain prawe of persons, calling themselves men, did grossly violate the person of a female; and, whereas, on the night of the 8th of January, inst., I have been credibly informed that a certain number of persons, calling themselves men, did grossly violate the person of a female; and, whereas the Police did neglect to arrest any of the said parties. And whereas a number of gambling houses exist in our midst, and the present stipendiary and police establishment are insufficient to check the same. Therefore be it resolved that a committee be appointed to a sprate extent the views of the mover, but as the motion might reflect on the Police Magistrate, he declined to second it. For the same reason the Mayor and remainder of the Council refused to entertain the motion, but admitted the necessity of some action being taken in

of the city government.

Some conversation afterwards ensued on side-walks, and the council adjourned.

THE ROBERT LOWE .- This magnificent screw steamship is 1,500 tons burthen, and is propelled by an engine of 300-horse power. She belongs to Messrs. Lindsay & Co., the eminent ship-owners of Tynemouth, the eminent ship-owners of Tynemouth, England, and is eight years old. Her present to be in attendance. After some delay the commander, Captain Congalton has been in charge of her since she first floated on the waters "like a thing of life." For a considerable period she was engaged by the Government as a troop ship, and in that capacity has carried own 70 000 Reitish hereas to and from against Baracco is at Nanaimo, so there is but ns a troop ship, and in that capacity has carried over 20,000 British heroes to and from Belds of glory in distant lands. The fittings of the soloon are of the most costly and ele-station are of the principal witnesses against Baracco is at Nanaimo, so there is but find the most costly and ele-station are of the principal witnesses are read to the principal wit gant description, the staterooms are commodious and luxuriantly furnished. The second cabin is fitted up with a view to comfort, more than outward appearance, and the other parts of the ship are provided with every requisite to make the people on board feel happy and contented. A cow was put on board before leaving England, to supply the board before leaving England, to supply the fore the ship preceded far the cow died. It was stated in a late San Francisco paper that the Robert Lowe in addition to several other vessels of the same line, had been sold to a company there for direct trade with China. This we believe is an error, no such transfer having taken place. We are glad to make the announcement, as some of our enterprise for having taken place. We are glad to make the announcement, as some of our enterprise. for having taken place. We are glad to make the announcement, as some of our enterprising merchants might be induced to make an effort to have this fine ship made the pioneer of a direct line between this port and China. It would be a noble enterprise to engage in, and would confer substantial advantages upon the contract of the product of the contract of the co the country as well as remunerate the inaugurator of such an undertaking. We regret to say that six of the hands described the vessel on Saturday night. The ship is consigned to Messra. Siff ken Bros. & Co., merchants on Wharf street.

LANDING OF THE PESSENGERS. The passengers were, with the exception of the single females, brought round to Victoria on the steamer Emily Harris yesterday afternoon. A vast crowd assembled on Union and the adjacent wharfs to see them land, and some excitement was created by Capt. Pike, who commanded the little vessel, steaming Bay Bridge. This maneuver created an impression that the boat would stop at the new wharf of Messrs. Janion, Green, & Rhodes, and a rush accordingly took place. On her return, a scamper back to Brodrick's wharf occurred, and she finally came alongside Just at the time when she was making fast, between a diversion, was created by a freingless. Just at the time when she was making hast, however, a diversion was created by a furious battle between two curs upon the wharf, which, proving the most attractive spectacle of the two, obtained by far the larger share of attention from the crowd for the ten minutes succeeding, by which time most of the passengers had succeeded in effecting a landing. The utmost disorder prevailed and the new sengers had succeeded in effecting a landing. He said it was very gratifying to him to see so many pleasant faces around him, and also to see the earnest manner in which they had drank his health. He observed that many changes had recently taken place in this colony, all of which he thought had been marked by progressive improvement on every hand. He was deeply interested in the country, and hoped to live to see Nanaimo become a place of more than ordinary importance. He expressed his opinion of the future prospects of Nanaimo and after other pertnent remarks resumed his seat amid prolonged cheering. "Prosperity to Nanaimo," and a variety of complimentary toasts to parties connected with the ing, was loudly cheered.
